

Abstract

The invention relates to a transmission component, such as a plate-link chain, thrust-link band or conical disks for a continuously variable, conical disk transmission.